Tutoring Experience

For the past five years, I've worked with students to craft compelling IB Extended Essays, helping them navigate the complexities of research and analysis. My students have successfully completed essays in a variety of subjects, including psychology and sociology, with many securing offers from top universities worldwide.

In addition to IB, I have supported students in their A-Level and IGCSE Psychology coursework, helping them develop strong critical thinking skills. My tutoring sessions are tailored to each student's individual goals, ensuring they achieve academic success while building a deeper understanding of the subject matter.
