Tutoring Experience

Throughout my career, I have worked with students from diverse academic backgrounds, helping them succeed in their studies. My focus has been on teaching IB Physics at both the SL and HL levels, guiding students through complex topics and assessments. I've also supported learners in IGCSE and A-Level Physics, preparing them for their final exams.

With over two decades of experience, I've had the opportunity to collaborate with leading academic institutions in Spain, gaining expertise in experimental physics and its applications. My passion for physics and dedication to my students have resulted in many of them achieving top scores and advancing to prestigious universities.
